The Himalaya branch of the ancient Silk Road was dominated by the valley’s traders. The cosmopolitan region developed distinct traditional art and architecture. By the 18th century, the Gorkha Kingdom of Nepal and later formed an alliance with the British Empire, under its Rajput Rana dynasty of premiers. The country was never colonized but served as a buffer state between Imperial China and British India. The Constitution of Nepal, adopted in 2015, affirms Nepal as a secular federal parliamentary republic divided into seven provinces. Nepal was admitted to the United Nations in 1955, and friendship treaties were signed with India in 1950 and the People’s Republic of China in 1960. HISTORY OF POSTAL SERVICES OF NEPAL

We had got the first opportunity of sending and receiving letters through postal service in Nepal from the year of B.S. 1935. Delivery of personal letters and communications were delivered by Nepal Hulak Ghar. In the past, Hulak or the postal system in Nepal throughout history depended largely on people to deliver letter and goods across this country. There was categorization of the postal service system: One was the Kagate Hulak and the other one was Thaple Hulak. The former was for the transportation of official mail and the letter for transporting goods, gifts, arms and ammunitions for the state, king or army. While kagate means paper, thaple is derived from thaplo meaning forehead. In synopsis, Nepali people carried "mail" across Nepal literally on their backs. Nepali stamps were for the first time issued in April 1881 as a set of three. These stamps were in set in the value of one aanaa, two aanaas and four aanaas. These stamps were printed on European paper. From 1886 onwards, Nepal embarked on printing stamps on hand-made Nepali paper. Numerous printings of these first three values on the local paper were made till 1907. In 1907 AD, again European manufactured stamps picturing Pashupatinath was printed and issued. The remainders of initial stamps bearing three values of 1, 2 and 3 aanaas were used and reissued for telegraphs in 1917 AD.

Nepal became a member of the Universal Postal Union (UPU) on 11 October, 1956 (Ottawa Congress) and entered the global network of posts. In 1974, Nepal signed the UPU Parcel Post Agreement. Nepal received membership of the Asian-Pacific Postal Union (APPU) in 1982. After the restoration of multiparty democracy in the country in 1990, a new and comprehensive National Communication Policy, 1992 was brought forward by the government. This policy had accepted the need of an autonomous postal authority to be sharp and effective in the era of globalization and competitive market.

There has been a skyrocketing development in the communication sector. Rapid advancement of modern communication technologies has impacted the traditional business of the post. These days the trend of writing letters and sending them through post has plunged dramatically. As a result, there has been a let-up in the regular task of postal service. Realizing this change Nepal Post has been operating modern valuable services such as money transfer, postal saving bank, remittance, e-post and so on and so forth.

Hulak or Nepal Post still has a long way to go. It has a Herculean task to assimilate the change and innovation drive. Nepal's Hulak has not still been able to take full-fledged advantages of modern ICTs to improve the business performance. One thing is black and white: the survival of Hulak largely hinges on its ability to rapidly change and innovate. Customer expectations, needs and tastes are changing and Hulak must change as well so as to meet these new demands.

Nepal Post or Hulak has to embrace the Vision 2022. It should uphold the reality that the future of the post strongly depends on its ability to innovate and create new products and services. One of the keys to innovation will be the Hulak's capacity to embrace new technologies and transfer its trusted brands into the digital space. To achieve this goal, it will be critical for Hulak to develop digital competencies, train and attract its human resources and to make the relevant regulatory frameworks that will support the new environment. For successful integration, Hulak will need to build a seamless network that is connected both virtually and physically that has a local and international presence. Full integration calls for the involvement of all key players in the postal supply chain, including customs and transport and the facilitation of cross-border e-commerce.

The world posts have a more relevant role to play as an infrastructure for development. In line with this global development and keeping its universal nature in mind, Hulak can do a big deal to drive the economic, social, financial and digital inclusion of all citizens of the world. Through its vast network, the post should target micro, small and medium-sized enterprises as well as the unbanked population as a new business frontier and create appropriated products to support the market.

The future of Nepal Post starts now. Nepal Post must work towards creating products and services that meet the needs of current and future customers. It must focus on innovation, integration and inclusion in its business mission to remain a strong and viable organization of Government of Nepal for the future. If Nepal Post can act soon with that realization, then only it will be able to achieve success and maintain its place in the competitive market with its presence and relevance. It's now or never.

MONEY ORDER SERVICE

Money Order Service in Nepal was introduced in 1975 under the Money Order Regulation, 1974. The service allows people to remit money from one part of the country to another and seven other countries abroad. Nepal had signed Money Order Agreement in 1980 with India, in 2004 with Jordan, Qatar, Hong Kong and Thailand and in 2005 with United Arab Emirate and Malaysia. This service was more secure, faster and reliable in the beginning. But now it is not so effective. Efforts are being made to improve it.

An amount up to NRs. 10,000 inside the country, NRs. 8,000 (equivalent to 5,000 Indian Currency) to India and amount equivalent to 2,000 US Dollar can be sent to other countries by a single money order paper. A revolving fund of Rs. 20.6 Millions is maintained for the smooth and prompt payment of Money Order and is operated by the Central Money Order Office. This office has prepared Software for online money order. It will help to make the service faster, more reliable and easier in money transfer service.

Nepal post started handing remittance service in partnership with Western Union Money Transfer in 2007. In this service, the amount collected by WU network in other countries is paid out through postal outlets in Nepal. Nepal Post receives a certain percentage of charge from WU for every transaction. Nepal Post offers Postal Saving Banking Service and Money Order service as its financial service. Nepal Post is also in the process of getting the membership of the IFS, which will enable us to further partner with other Postal Financial Service teams and private firms to enhance the remittance business. But now this service is not continuous.

POSTAL SAVING BANKING SERVICE

Postal Saving Bank came into existence in 1976. 117 post offices (GPO Kathmandu, 4 Postal Directorates, 70 DPOs and 42 APOs) are approved for operating postal saving banking service. Nepal Post searched out revenue of Rs. ----- while the expenditure was of Rs. -----in fiscal year 2077/2078 B.S. (July 16,2020-July 15,2021).
