Press Release

The Embassy of Nepal in Beijing hosted a reception to mark the 262nd Raising Day of the Nepali Army at the Embassy premises this evening.

Welcoming the guests in the event, H.E. Dr. Krishna Prasad Oli, Ambassador of Nepal to China shed light on the continued contributions of the Nepali Army since its inception in 1744 in safeguarding the sovereignty, territorial integrity, nationality, and independence of Nepal. His Excellency applauded Nepali Army's expanded role beyond national defense, including its significant contributions to infrastructure development, disaster response, environmental conservation, and public welfare. His Excellency also highlighted the active role of the Nepali Army in United Nations peacekeeping missions, emphasizing that their professionalism and dedication have enhanced Nepal's global standing as a committed contributor to international peace and security.

On the occasion, Military Attaché Colonel Jayendra KC emphasized the Nepali Army's unwavering commitment to safeguarding Nepal's sovereignty, upholding national pride, and serving the people through its vital roles in defense, disaster response, and community welfare. He further underscored the Nepali Army's steadfast dedication to fostering robust military cooperation with friendly nations, including China, focusing on the mutual advantages of joint training, capacity-building, and humanitarian initiatives. Colonel KC expressed confidence that these collaborative engagements would continue to enhance regional peace, stability, and foster deeper bilateral trust between Nepal and its international partners.

Over 200 guests including government officials, high-ranking officials from the People's Liberation Army, members of the Beijing Military Attaché Corps, defence attaches and members of the diplomatic corps, and representatives from the Nepali community in China were present in the programme.
